DELEGATE POWERS: Mr. President, I move the adoption of today's calendar.

(The motion was duly seconded.)

THE PRESIDENT: All those in favor signify by saying Aye; those opposed, No. The Ayes have it. It is so ordered.

Are there any reports of the committees?

READING CLERK: No.

THE PRESIDENT: Are there any papers to be read across the desk?

READING CLERK: No.

THE PRESIDENT: Are there any motions or resolutions?

(There was no response.)

The Chair has two brief announcements to be made.

Editing of the transcript is proceeding, albeit slowly, under the direct supervision of Miss Mary Anne Krupsak. She is making only such changes as are necessary and it is not practically possible to have her submit the transcript to every delegate.

However, there are places where either because the delegate did not express himself clearly or because the reporter did not hear or understand him, it is not clear as to what is intended.

In these relatively few instances, it will be necessary for Miss Krupsak to talk to the delegate. She will do this by sending you a note during the session. I ask that you go back to the lounge and speak to her.

In most instances, she will need your attention but for a minute or two. If it is longer than that, will you please make an appointment to see her during recess so that you will not be out of the chamber for more than a few minutes.

The Chief Page has also asked me to request of all delegates that they please do not disturb the piles of amendments on the tables in the lounge.

They have in the past few days been disturbed by delegates trying to find copies. They get out of order. This results in confusion on the floor and the passing out of the wrong amendments.

If you want an amendment, ask the page. Please do not undertake to get it yourself. This is particularly true at the recess hour, when the Chief Page is not there. Please do not disturb the amendments on the table.

DELEGATE POWERS: Mr. President, I move that the Convention resolve itself into a Committee of the Whole so that we may consider the General Orders of the day.

THE PRESIDENT: Is there a second?

(The motion was duly seconded.)

THE PRESIDENT: All those in favor signify by saying Aye; opposed, No. The Ayes have it. It is so ordered.

(Whereupon, at 10:15 A.M., the Convention resolved itself into the Committee of the Whole.)
